

Online EU Health Law course

Erasmus Law School is launching an online course EU Health Law (free access) open for law students (master level) interested in the relationship health law and the EU. The course starts 24 February 2016 until 30 March 2016 (weekly basis on Wednesday).

The course will equip students with in-depth knowledge of European integration and health law and covers a full range of health (related) topics on European integration, such as public health, the free movement of patients, health professionals, health products and services, data protection, pharmaceuticals, competition law in health care, the EU Human Rights Charter and health, and eHealth.

Law students from around the globe are welcome to register for the course and may participate either face-to-face or online (Google hangouts). No tuition fee is required. The course will be generously sponsored by the Erasmus+ program.

Contact and registration: André den Exter (course director) denexter@bmg.eur.nl

Info: http://www.bmg.eur.nl/english/research/eu\_projects/jean\_monnet\_programme/teaching/